

EAWR HYBRID SCHEDULE
"Fridge Memo"
REVISED: August 11, 2020

(Full Plan is available on the Home Page www.eawr.org under "What's New at EAWR")

EAWR will begin the 2020-21 school year with a blended learning approach with a hybrid schedule. This schedule will operate with our students divided by alphabet (A-L and M-Z), with the students who have last names beginning with A through L attending on "Maroon Days," and students with the last name beginning with M through Z attending on "Gold Days."

At present, the Maroon and Gold days will alternate every day, which means that, during some 5-day weeks, the student might attend three days on campus, while only attending two days the following week. [See the schedule on the rear of this Fridge Memo]

During student's remote learning days, they will be offered work from the following: assignments and other reinforcement activities from the on-campus session; some video or other on-line learning; reading assignments, etc. Also, student attendance will be taken daily via electronic check-in, the handing-in of work, or by some other means. As with the students who have opted for 100% remote learning, any work assigned during the remote learning will be considered for grade credit (with the exceptions of certain assignments that a teacher may decide to count for "bonus work," perhaps).

Blended Learning Option and Schedule: EAWR will begin the 2020-21 school year with a blended learning schedule. This schedule will operate with a two-part format, with an 8:00 - 1:00 in-person schedule with all six classes scheduled, followed by a remote learning period (see below for times) that would allow time for reinforcement, practice, on-line quizzes and assessments, show demonstrations via video, use of supplementary videos. Teachers would be present at school, in this scenario, to also assist special needs students in the provision of as-needed in-person instructional and support services or for other students who might need 1-1 attention.
